Dutch Blitz Rolls Over Java

Defenders Burn Lost Territory

Claim Native Revolts Spread

BATAVIA—(INS)—Dutch marines swept into the vital Java oil center of Tjepoe today in a steamroller advance over apparently feeble Indonesian Republican resistance.

But the Republicans, in what was reportedly the first application of their threatened "scorched earth" resistance policy, were said to have set afire one of the largest oil wells of the area.

Meanwhile, Dutch mechanized brigades pushing ahead from Semarang were reported to have seized the provincial capital of Surakarta, in the center of Java.

The steady advance of Dutch forces was said to be well ahead of schedule. On the island of Sumatra, the fall of the Republican capital of Bukittinggi appeared imminent, with Dutch troops only 40 miles away.

(The United Nations Security council in Paris prepared to meet tomorrow to consider the renewed hostilities on the resource-rich islands.

(American delegation circles report that the U. S. will demand an immediate halt to the fighting and a return to truce lines).

Already in Dutch hands is the Republican Javanese capital of Jogjakarta, which fell early Sunday when Netherlands forces opened their land, sea and air blitz.

The Indonesian delegation to the United Nations claimed today that Republican forces have taken Jogjakarta from the Dutch.

The Indonesians quoted the Republican radio on Java as the source of their information, and added that native revolts against the Dutch are spreading in East and West Java.

BLOCK U. S. MOVE

In Paris, Britain, France and other western European colonial powers today strove to block U. S. efforts to obtain Security council condemnation of Netherlands military action in the East Indies.

Authoritative sources disclosed that the U. S. delegation is meeting strong opposition to its efforts to obtain agreement to condemn the Dutch action as a threat to peace.

The European states oppose any condemnation of the Dutch. Instead they are proposing that a resolution calling only for a ceasefire be voted. This would permit the Dutch to retain all the gains they have made in the fighting since Sunday.

GOP Revolt Threatens

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Despite threats of party revolt, Senator Taft of Ohio appeared an almost sure bet today to resume his familiar role as chief Republican policy maker in the new Senate.

The Ohioan was said to have received such assurances of support as to make his re-election as chairman of the GOP policy committee an almost foregone conclusion.

This would mean, colleagues said, that so far as the Senate is concerned President Truman again will find opposing many of his proposals the same man who clashed bitterly with him in the past over such issues as price controls and labor legislation.

Taft's grip on the policy making post seemed unlikely to be retained, however, without some kind of compromise with self-tabbed liberals who have been demanding a greater voice in charting the party's course.

Light Snow In Sight For Yuletide

Mercury Due To Skid Tonight

Winter comes at exactly 5:34 p. m. today and the good word from the U. S. Weather bureau is that Mansfielders can look forward to a white Christmas.

"If snow does fall, though, Forecaster Milton Davis added, "it won't much more than cover the ground with a light layer of white."

Returning to winter's entry, Davis pointed out that on this day your shadow is longer than on any other day of the year, the day is the shortest, and the night, of course, the longest.

Colder weather is in sight for tonight and Wednesday, the weather bureau said. Yesterday's sloppy weather produced only .05 inches of rain in Mansfield, the airport reported.

Yesterday's high was 31 degrees at 10:30 p. m. Temperatures rose steadily this morning and reached 41 at noon.

MERCURY FALLING

Temperatures plunged in the midwest today as high winds whistled across the Great Lakes on the heels of a heavy snowstorm that took 45 lives and buried New York City under its third worst fall in history.

The mercury was expected to fall to 15 degrees below zero in some parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota by Wednesday morning. It was one above zero at Pembina, N. D., at 8 a. m. today.

Tonight will be cloudy and colder with snow flurries expected in the north half of Ohio. Some rain is predicted for the west and south sections.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook follows:.

Temperatures will average two to four degrees below normal. Colder Wednesday. Continued cold Thursday. Slowly rising trend Friday and Saturday. Snow flurries Wednesday and snow likely Friday or Saturday with total precipitation near ¼-inch.

Fear Fliers Stuck Until After Holiday

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The air force promised today to do everything humanly possible to rescue the 11 stranded airmen in Greenland before Christmas day.

If that proves impossible, a spokesman said, a Christmas tree and turkey dinners will be dropped by parachute so the men can observe the holiday in their snow huts atop the 7,000 foot icecap. They've got heaters to keep warm and the spokesman hinted they could expect some Christmas "cheer" too.

Another effort to rescue the 11 men is scheduled to be made tomorrow if the strong winds and bad weather let up. The attempt probably will be made with a C-82 transport plane and glider. A previous try at a glider rescue failed when the coupling snapped after the glider had been lifted about 50 feet into the air.

Pleads Innocence In Bribery Case

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP) —Robert D. Evans, 31, a city health department investigator, pleaded innocent yesterday to charges he accepted bribe money to conceal alleged evidence that a local physician performed several abortions. Evans was released on $2,500 bond and slated for trial in municipal court Jan. 6. The doctor, who had been held for questioning, was released.

Students, Faculty Mourn

'Pop' Elias, Pupils' Friend, Dies

By NITA BRANSON

Mathias Elias, 72, manager of athletic equipment at Senior high school and known affectionately as 'Pop' by faculty and students alike, died at General hospital Monday afternoon following a three-week illness. Death was due to a heart ailment.

For 12 years "Pop" Elias had kept a kindly hand on the distribution of equipment at Senior high school, and although at times he had to be firm in his management of this part of the athletic program, his firmness was so tempered with a wise and understanding humor that respect for him among Senior high students increased with the years.

He was so integral a part of Senior high school student life that today he is being mourned as a personal friend and wherever school officials and students gather, Mr. Elias is spoken of in words one uses only for those held in particular esteem and affection.

Glenn Rohleder, principal at Senior high school, was among the many at Senior high school who was saddened by Mr. Elias's death.

"Pop was like an institution at the school," Rohleder said. "Everyone liked him. I never saw him angry, but if he was he always seemed able to turn his anger into a joke. He was a great fellow and he will be missed a lot."

"He was a wonderful person to have around the boys," Harry E. Mehock, physical education director of Mansfield schools, said. "He was a father to us all, even the coaches. We'd tell him our troubles and he always advised us. There's no question but that we're going to miss Pop a great deal."

LIVED HERE 17 YEARS

Coming to Mansfield 17 years ago from the west coast, Mr. Elias had made his home with his son, Frank, and his family at 27 Hoffman avenue.

"POP'S" LAST TREAT—Mathias "Pop" Elias gives his final treat to five boys at Senior high school, following their last 1948 football practice. "Pop" pours orange juice while admiring students gather around.

He was born in Borne, Holland, Oct. 23, 1876. He came to this country when he was 20 years old, but remained only a brief time, going on to the Philippine Islands, where he was engaged in the lumber business. In 1903, he transferred his lumber interests to the west coast, where he owned and operated a lumber company for 25 years in Washington state.

He was a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner, first becoming affiliated with the Masonic groups on the Pacific coast.

Besides his son, Frank, he is survived by another son, Robert M. Elias of Portland, Ore., a daughter, Mrs. John Riley of Seattle, Wash., and four grandchildren. Mrs. Elias died in 1931 and it was after her death that he came to Mansfield.

Among his many friends was Dr. Grover E. Swoyer, former pastor of the First Lutheran church here. Dr. Swoyer will come to Mansfield to officiate at Mr. Elias's funeral services at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the Finefrock funeral home.

The body will then be taken to Seattle for burial.

Trio Held As Tree 'Rustlers'

Men Captured In Mansfield

Three Sandusky men, accused as Christmas tree "rustlers," were apprehended in Mansfield last night after authorities in two counties were tipped off that the men were headed this way.

The men, scheduled for hearings in Ashland this afternoon, are accused of cutting between 80 and 90 Christmas trees on the Dr. Burnside farm near Loudonville.

The accused men were apprehended by Mansfield police about 11 p. m., yesterday, in a North Main street grill near the Erie railroad. Police said they were driving a one-ton truck loaded with Christmas trees.

Ashland county authorities said the men would be charged with grand larceny. Charges had not been filed at noon today.

The three were traced to Mansfield after residents near the Burnside farm noticed men cutting pine trees from a slope at 10 p. m. Ashland sheriff's deputies said the neighbors notified their office when they were dissatisfied with the answers the men gave them when asked about the tree cutting.

SEEN IN BUTLER

The report was followed by a call from Butler where the truck, loaded with between 80 and 90 freshly cut pines was reported speeding through the village. Ashland authorities notified Richland County Sheriff Frank E. Robinson who immediately notified Mansfield police to be on the watch for the truck and the men, believed heading towards the city.

At 11 p. m. Coulter W. VanScoder, Loudonville, R. D. 2, notified police that the same truck was parked in front of the grill in Mansfield. He told police he had seen the truck leave the estate and had followed it to Mansfield.

Ashland county authorities said several of the trees were scattered along the highways where they fell from the speeding truck as the three tried to make a getaway.

The men were the second band of Sandusky Christmas tree thief suspects apprehended in the past two days in the city.

Dominic Fresch, 24, and Albert Fresch, 22, Sandusky brothers, posted $1,000 bonds each in municipal court Monday afternoon when charged with the illegal cutting of timber. Both will appear for hearing Jan. 3. They are charged with cutting more than 100 Christmas trees on the Philip Schmutzler farm near Adario.

Capture of the brothers followed the finding of a delivery bill, made out to their father, at the scene of the theft.

It was believed the trees were cut about Dec. 6. The bill was found at the spot where a large truck had been mired in the mud after the trees were cut. The truck, seen in the vicinity of the farm, apparently was to be used to haul the trees from the scene, officers said. The trees, however, were not removed.

Body Hurtles From 16 Story Skyscraper

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS—Rep. Mundt (R-SD) declared today that "communist espionage conspirators" might be involved in the death of Laurence Duggan, ex-state department official.

The congressman said: "There is more than a slight possibility that it (Duggan's death) could have been foul play.

"This is the third person to die since the committee began its investigation by questioning Elizabeth T. Bentley last August. If foul play was involved it might lead directly to the communist espionage conspirators."

NEW YORK—(INS)—Persons close to Laurence Duggan, former high state department official, were questioned today by authorities seeking an explanation for his 16-floor plunge to death last night from a New York skyscraper.

One detective declared flatly that Duggan, linked in Washington to the Whittaker Chambers spy case, "decided to take the quick way out" when he fell or jumped from his own office window.

Pending further investigation, however, there was no official explanation of just what sent the 43-year-old diplomat hurtling to death in a snowbank outside his office building at 45th street and Fifth avenue.

Police said no note or possible other explanation for a suicide leap was found in Duggan's office.

The widow, Mrs. Helen Boyd Duggan, was quoted by police as stating her husband had undergone a serious back operation last year, but seemingly had recovered quickly. Detectives quoted Mrs. Duggan as saying she could offer no explanation for his death plunge.

Duggan, father of four children, was a one-time adviser to Secretary of State Cordell Hull on Latin-American affairs. When he died, he was the $15,000-a-year president of the Institute of International Education.

The organization is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace of which Alger Hiss, named as a spy courier by Chambers, is president-on-leave.

The statement that Duggan took "the quick way out" came from Detective James Pritchard, one of the first to reach Duggan's body last night.

Said Pritchard:

"My investigation shows that Duggan jumped from the window.

'QUICK WAY OUT'

"He apparently was getting ready to leave his office and suddenly decided to take the quick way out.

"Nothing indicated he was pushed or had accidentally fallen from the window."

Shortly after word of Duggan's death was received in Washington, acting chairman Karl Mundt (R) S. D., of the House Un-American activities committee disclosed that the former state department employe had been mentioned in secret testimony before the congressional group.

Mundt said that Isaac Don Levine, anti-communist editor, had named Duggan as one of six men who Whittaker Chambers cited as a source of information in 1938 and 1939, when vital state department papers were stolen for transmission to Russia.

Duggan served with the state department from 1931 to 1944, when he resigned.

Mundt called upon New York police to determine whether Duggan's death was accidental or suicide.

The congressman said Levine's testimony was given on Dec. 8—six days after the discovery of the "pumpkin papers" on Chamber's farm. Chambers subsequently identified Alger Hiss, another former top state department official now indicted for perjury, as one of several persons who gave him government information.

Levine was quoted as saying that Duggan's name was "much better known" in the late 30's than either of the Hiss brothers. Alger Hiss' brother Donald was also mentioned by Chambers as an "underground" member.

Eire Wins Complete Freedom

Slice Final British Tie

DUBLIN—(AP)—Eire became a free and independent republic today.

Ireland's centuries—long and often bloody struggle for freedom came to a peaceful end as President Sean T. O'Kelly signed Eire out of the British commonwealth.

O'Kelly approved a bill of the Irish parliament repealing the external relations act which had empowered the British king to accredit Irish diplomats.

The act was the last slender constitutional tie between Eire and the British crown and commonwealth.

The repeal actually becomes effective on an "independence day" which Prime Minister John A. Costello's government is expected to proclaim early in the spring.

The delay will give the two nations time to work out a new alignment of economic and political relationships.

The English conquest of Ireland began with an invasion in 1169 and was helped by a rift among Irish chieftains. But it ran into stiff resistance.

The Irish fought for freedom in 1598, 1641, 1649 and 1690. Then the rebels went underground for more than 100 years. They rose again in 1803, 1848 and 1867.

But it was the bloody rebellion of 1916 and the guerrilla war of 1919-1921 which finally broke British authority.

Death Probe Continuing

GUAM — (UP) — Police questioned two men today in the rape-slaying of Ruth Farnsworth, 27-year-old navy civilian employe from San Francisco, but admitted "neither was a good suspect."

One, an unidentified enlisted man, was held for further questioning when he could not account for his whereabouts on the night of the slaying. The other, Terriel Baxter Meshew, 32, of San Antonio, Tex., was fined $55 for vagrancy.

Meshew, former civil service worker, said he spent the night of the murder visiting taverns. Bloodstained white sailor's pants were found in his locker but he said he did not wear them the night of the slaying.

Husband, Wife Face Federal Court Suit

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cherryholmes of Wilmington were charged in a federal court suit yesterday with obtaining above-ceiling rents from four air force officers.

Stephen W. Young, Cincinnati area rent control office attorney, said Mrs. Cherryholmes rented apartments at ceiling rates but that her husband, who reportedly is in the furniture business, then rented furniture at extra amounts to the tenants.

Brighten A Christmas

700 Attend Movie, Give to City's Needy

More than 700 Mansfielders, most of them children, crowded into the Park theater this morning to see a "canned goods" movie and help the city's needy at Christmas.

Although the price of admission was only one can of food, some of the children brought more than one can, and paper cartons and bushel baskets in the lobby were soon filled to overflowing with proof of Mansfield's Christmas spirit.

Maj. William J. Jones and Adjt. William Ayres of the Salvation Army were there to receive the food which will be used by their organization to fill Christmas baskets for needy families.

Most of the food had been purchased in stores, but there was a good representation of home-canned fruit and vegetables. The store cans contained fruit, vegetables, milk, and soups. Some of the children even brought packages of gelatin.

Major Jones said the amount of food brought to the theater was more than he had hoped for.

SEE VARIETY SHOW

The children obviously were looking forward to the western, comedies, and cartoons which were scheduled to last for two hours. From the smallest tykes, accompanied by parents or older brothers or sisters, to those of high school age, they came prepared to enjoy themselves.

In addition to the cans of food, they brought boxes of popcorn and fruit to munch on during the show.

Although the show was scheduled to begin at 9:30 a. m., at least 50 youngsters were waiting outside the theater when the doors opened at 9:15. From then on a steady stream of children poured into the theater, bringing their gifts of food for the less fortunate.

Some of the children had wrapped their cans, inexpertly but gaily, in Christmas wrappings.

Roosevelt Scion Killed

Listed Among Plane Victims

(By Associated Press)

Quinton Roosevelt, grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt, was killed today when a Chinese National Airlines plane crashed at Bafalt Island, 10 miles from Hong Kong. Thirty-one passengers were aboard the ill-fated craft.

Aviation circles said Roosevelt left for Hong Gong on a business trip this morning. They added there was no doubt he was on the plane, although two other CNAC planes left at about the same time for Hong Kong.

Mrs. Roosevelt and their three young daughters are in Shanghai.

Roosevelt, son of the late Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt jr., had been in China about one year as vice-president of the air line.

Previously he had spent many years in China. In 1937 he and his mother figured in a dramatic evacuation episode in the Yangtze river off Shanghai.

A group of Americans was fleeing the fighting between the Japanese and Chinese around Shanghai. A small boat in which Roosevelt and his mother were crowded with other American refugees was almost swamped in trying to reach the evacuation ship, President Jefferson.

West was shot to death at a road block near Van Wert, July 23.

The commission, after today's hearing, will submit a recommendation for or against clemency to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

French Hand Over Town

German Village 'Betrayed' to Reds

BERLIN —(INS)— Russian army troops carrying rifles and machine-guns today occupied the tiny Berlin suburb of Stolpe, whose residents voted 93 per cent against communism in the recent elections.

The village of 400 was handed over to the Russians two days ago by the French, who had occupied it under a special agreement since Oct., 1945.

The Soviets first move was to seal off the only road leading from the French sector of Berlin to Stolpe, which lies about five miles inside the Russian occupation zone of Germany.

German soviet zone police promptly took the Stolpe mayor to the Russian Berlin kommandatura. It was not ascertained whether he was placed under arrest.

French officials said the Russian occupation began early today and ended about 10 a. m., without incident.

The transfer of the village raised a storm of protest in west Berlin newspapers, which charged that the villagers had become "victims of the cold war."

No official reason was given by the French for their evacuation of Stolpe. But it was believed that the move was prompted through fears that the soviets planned retaliation for the French destruction last Thursday of two Russian radio towers.

Originally, the village had been given to the French as the site of an airfield. It was never used for this purpose, and the French erected their airfield at Tegel, within their sector of Berlin.

An American photographer who attempted to enter the village today was turned back by Russian troops.

Commenting of the transfer of Stolpe, the British-licensed Berlin newspaper Telegraf said: "The Stolpers are betrayed people, caught between two worlds."

CENTURY-OLD GREETING—One of the earliest holiday greeting cards. As may be seen, it bears the date of 1842. It was intended to be colored by the sender.

★ ★ ★

Artists Don't Get Wealthy!

Greeting Cards Over 100 Years Old

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Most of the traditions now associated with Christmas are of comparatively recent origin. The roly-poly Santa Claus, Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" and Christmas cards are among the things which go back only a little more than 100 years.

The sending of specially designed cards in place of the usual letters of best wishes at the holiday time got started in England early in the 1840s. The exact year is uncertain.

One account suggests that the first Christmas card was drawn by W. E. Dobson, a well-known painter and member of the British Academy, and sent to a friend in 1844 or 1845 But there is at least one Christmas card design dated 1842; it has the now standard, "A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year to You" inscription.

Artists lived off the commissions they received from wealthy folk in those days. Commissioning a Christmas card by a well-known artist was an idea that caught on quickly, particularly after the publicity given to a card drawn by John Callcott Horsley, another noted painter, for Sir Henry Cole, in 1846 It depicted a family celebrating Christmas with "brimming cheer," and temperance advocates denounced it as sacrilege.

Next year, many cards appeared; and the fad spread to the continent, especially to Germany, where the lithograph process already had been utilized to reproduce works of art in quantity at low cost.

Louis Prang, who is regarded as the father of the American greeting card industry, came to the United States from Germany a century ago this year, 1848, but did not start producing Christmas cards until 1875 Meanwhile, cards printed in England had introduced the idea abroad.

Greeting cards began to be sold generally in the United States about 1862. However, they were crude in comparison with the artistic creations Prang introduced and made popular, and which sometimes earned an artist as much as $35 000 in royalties.

Thought Christmas cards are a $20,000,000-a-year business now, few if any artists are rewarded to that extent

Christmas seals now closely identified with Christmas cards in the minds of perhaps most persons, were introduced in the United States in 1907 The idea was borrowed from Denmark where, in 1904, a postal clerk originated this device to raise money for anti-tuberculosis organizations

In Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands special Christmas stamps are issued by the government postal service. A premium is paid for them, the government turning over the premium to the charitable organizations

The traditions now grouped around Christmas naturally play a heavy role in the selection by the manufacturers of themes for cards. Candles, bells, holly, decorated trees, Santa Claus, old-fashioned coaches, stars, madonnas, herald angels and snowscapes are those always in demand in most places.

However, for Florida and Southern California, and Latin countries now celebrating Christmas in the manner of North America, wintry scenes are taboo. For them, there are poinsettias, or sailing ships on smooth seas, or other subjects that do not recall the climate of the north

Youngsters See Santa Claus As Truly Puzzling Figure

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y. —(AP)—Here, really and truly, is what Santa Claus is like:

He's 88 years old and seven feet tall, lives with Mrs. Claus at the North Pole, and visits 152 (or on the other hand, it may be a billion) children each Christmas eve with the help of his magic reindeer.

This is a pretty good cross section of opinions from second grade children at Main Street school. And if second grade children don't know what Santa is like, really and truly, who does?

The youngsters were answering a questionnaire on "what do you know about Santa Claus?" submitted by their teachers at the request of the principal, Miss Charlotte Merriman.

While the answer above is typical, there was nothing cut and dried about the returns. On the subject of who Santa is, the children dictated these comments among others:

"A jolly old man—he real all right."

"Mother and Daddy give the money, but there is a real Santa."

"A man—American."

"A man, a person very ordinary."

"My father, but I think there's a real one too. Some say there isn't."

"I think he's Bing Crosby."

Not all the children, of course, thought him 88 years old. One girl figured him to be 50,000 years old and a foot high. Others decided he was as young as 15 and as tall as 60 feet. But the consensus showed him up as elderly and out-size: He's been around a long time, but he has to handle a lot of work.

While most everybody said there was a Mrs. Claus, not so many thought there were little Clauses. A few thought Santa was single, but did have children.

Almost unanimously, even including the youngster who pronounced Santa a "fake," they said they wrote him letters.

WATCHFUL WAITING—At edge of Templehof airfield, Berlin children await the arrival of Little Vittles planes.

Air Lift Sideline Expands

'Little Vittles' Operation Underway

BERLIN. — As the huge C-54 Skymaster of the United States Military Air Transport service started its long glide into Berlin's Tempelhof airport, a tiny dot blossomed out behind its slipstream.

The dot grew and grew until a group of playing youngsters noticed its descent. In a moment it had developed into a tiny parachute with a package tied to its strings.

Tumbling over each other in excited curiosity, the skinny little urchins soon retrieved the chute, discovering to their unbounded joy that its diminutive cargo was candy—a substance more precious to them than all the Air Lift coal in the Ruhr valley.

The next day two groups of children anxiously watched the stream of planes pouring over the "air bridge" into Berlin. However, only coal and meat arrived that day. No candy.

The next day they watched and the next. Then two chutes fell in one day, and after that the group of ragged children grew beyond bounds.

From his seat in the Skymaster 1st Lt. Gail S. Halvorsen of Garland, Utah, watched the milling youngsters and despaired because his candy chutes were so few. They weren't few for long.

Others found out what the kind American was doing and they, too, began to help. German youngsters in the vicinity of the Rhein-Main AFB, where Halvorsen is stationed, volunteered to help him in making the parachutes and fastening the candy to them.

Soon the lieutenant and his little buddies had a regular production and delivery line going, despite the lieutenant's daily schedule of airlift flights. Even then, Halvorsen had no idea how large his rain of "goodies" was to get.

Other airmen took to dropping their chutes of gum and lollipops, until now each Air Lift day finds more than 1,500 candy chutes falling to Berlin's eager youngsters. The United States flyers call their project Little Vittles.

Many of the German children and their parents are grateful; so they write to the Yankee flyer and tell him what they think. One of his latest letters came from a thankful mother.

"The oldest of my seven sons had on this day his 16th birthday," wrote the mother, "but when he went out in the morning we were all sad, because we felt certain this day would be no different from any other. But how happily everything turned out!

"A parachute with chocolate landed on our roof. It was the first sweets for the children in a long time. My oldest son, a student, came home at eight o'clock and I was able, after all, to give him some birthday happiness."

The grateful mother went on to say she would gladly return the handkerchief parachute if necessary, but requested to keep it as a "memento of the airbridge to Berlin."

So large has the volume of Lieutenant Halvorsen's mail become that he has had to call on a translator and a secretary to help him out.

Little Liselotte Muller says it best in his letter of thanks to Lieutenant Halvorsen. After he finished telling of the wondrous thrill of fetching out the chocolates and gum, he wrote: "The delight was very large."

Peace Rumors Sweep China In Wake of Red Army Triumphs

Government Sources See Early Peace

Shooting War Almost Over

NANKING, China — (AP) — Nationalist China today marked up another day without a functioning cabinet or a victory in its civil war.

The shooting war north of the Yangtze river is almost over, qualified military observers said. They reported government forces appeared neither willing nor capable of mounting a single large scale offensive north of the river, nor of stopping any mass communist thrust.

Pro-government newspapers acknowledged Tientsin, major industrial center of north China, was "completely isolated." They reported heavy fighting in the outskirts. Official sources admitted the loss of two rail towns on the approaches to Tientsin.

The governmental situation was no more encouraging. President Chiank Kai-Shey let the day pass without taking action on a proposed new cabinet. Last night Premier Sun Fo handed Chiang a list of ministers ready to "fight on until we can secure an honorable peace."

Sun spent nearly a month forming the cabinet But some doubt appeared today as to his success. Sun said Chen Li Fu, Kuomintang (Nationalist party) stalwart, would be a minister without portfolio. Chen said he knew nothing about it until he read of it in the newspapers Chen has been reluctant to exchange his vice presidency of the legislative Yuan for a cabinet post

The legislative Yuan met today. About 650 of its 750 members did not show up. Many have already fled Nanking, which lies on the south bank of the Yangtze.

North of the river communists forces have driven Chiang's troops closer to the capital. The Reds have wiped out two Nationalist army groups and encircled three more. It is doubtful if Chiang's generals have five army groups left north of the Yangtze.

Farther north the communists have cut Peiping and Tientsin off from supplies Observers have chalked them off as lost.

UE Board Replies To Red Charge

Issues Blast At Kersten

Art Wernick, business agent of Local 758 UEW-CIO which recently refused to adopt a resolution barring communists from office, today released a reply to charges made yesterday that the UE is communist dominated.

The charge was contained in a report of a subcommittee of the House of Representatives after lengthy investigation. It was released by Charles J. Kersten (R.-Wis.) chairman of the subcommittee.

The UE's reply, according to Wernick, came from the office of the District 7 UE executive board in Cleveland and its release was authorized over the name of William Kozma, Mansfield member of the district board.

Following is the text of the reply:

"Representative Kersten, lame-duck congressman from Wisconsin, evidently could not leave office without a parting blast at the UE.

"Kersten was defeated for re-election on the basis of his record, one of the worst in the 80th Congress He voted for Taft-Hartley and for the Mundt-Nixon bill. He voted against funds for health and welfare services, against the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill, against government guarantees of GI loans, and against every piece of legislation which would benefit the people.

"In addition, he has been involved in an evasion of state taxes which The Milwaukee Journal referred to as 'one of the most un-American things a man could do.' He failed to file returns on his state taxes for 1943, 1944 and 1945. After he was exposed, he paid up in January, 1947.

"Kersten was defeated, moreover, because of his misuse of his committee for strike-breaking and union-busting through the so-called investigations it conducted.

"The answer to Kersten's allegations is simple. The officers of UE, both nationally and in the districts, were democratically elected by the membership. They were elected despite the attacks of Kersten and others of his kind. The membership elected these officers because they saw through and repudiated these efforts at outside interference with the domination of their union. By electing their present officers and defeating Kersten, the UE members have given their answer.

"Today, the members of UE are concerned about the widespread layoffs resulting from the do-nothing policies of the 80th Congress. This is far more important to them than continued smears from a defeated anti-labor congressman."

WILLIAM KOZMA, member Executive Board,
U. E. R. & M. W. A.
District No. 7,
830 Vincent Avenue,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Local 758 is the smaller of two UE locals in Mansfield. The other, Local 711, has adopted a resolution barring communists from holding office in its union.

Following the refusal of Local 758 to take similar action a number of workers at the Ideal Electric Manufacturing company sought to withdraw from the union and join the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL).

The NLRB has been invited to act in the Local 758 split and an election among the workers at Ideal is pending

Australians Fear Results of Rearmed Japan

U. S. Policy Is Viewed With Alarm

Strong Japan Seen as Threat

SYDNEY, — (AP) — Australians are starting to think again of Japan as a menace to this "white continent."

Australians live in a sparsely populated dominion at the southeastern tip of Asia. North and west of them are 1,000,000,000 crowded Asiatics.

They always have been touchy about the land hungry people of Asia, particularly the Japanese. Immigration laws prevent permanent entry of any Asiatics.

With the defeat of Japan, fear of a Japanese migration swamping the 7,500,000 people here died. But today that fear is growing again.

In one recent week three Australians gave public warnings about Japan.

Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell said: "Japan is the only Asiatic country I fear."

Sir William Webb, who presided at the allied trials of Tojo and other Japanese, said: "Unless the militarist group is held in check, we will have trouble again with Japan."

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, wartime Australian commander- in-chief, said: "Japan will always be a menace to Australia."

Calwell, a member of the Australian cabinet, presumably spoke for the government when he expressed the belief Japan cannot be democracized or really civilized in 10 years.

Behind Calwell's warning on Japan is a fear in the minds of Australian leaders that the United States will build up Japan's armed strength as a counter to Russia.

They assume that, in a war with Russia, the United States would use Japan as a base.

When the war is over, they ask, who will disarm Japan?

Judge Webb, who has just returned from the Tokyo trials, said militarist groups in Japan are composed of able, public-spirited men with a gift for leadership.

"These men are ruthless, daring, and efficient. They will miss no chance of recovering their old positions."

Webb said the most important way to make Japan a genuine democratic state, is to keep control in the hands of those Japanese opposed to war.

Gen. Blamey said it is a pity Australia is reducing the strength of occupation forces in Japan. "No matter what we do, the Japanese will never give up hope of advancing southward if the militarists get control again."

The Sydney Morning Herald commented in an editorial:

"Austrialians are not deceived by the veneer of democracy too facily assumed by the Japanese under American tutelage.

Glenn Rohleder of Senior high school and Martha Shiplet, a pupil, fill a gift basket at the high school. Pupils under the supervision of Miss Ruth Dunham gathered more than 100 bushels of food to fill baskets for the needy families with children in school. One family of 16 was given adequate food for the holiday season. The food was distributed to 82 families, with money in each basket to provide meat for a Christmas dinner. In addition, toys and a fire-proof Christmas tree were given to the Volunteers of America, and a lot of clothing, including many new garments, will be given by John Eisaman to needy school children. One of their own number, Millard Pryor, who has been ill during the school year, was sent a poinséttia by his fellow students.

Job Approval Action Due

The county Democratic executive committee will meet sometime this week to endorse county appointees who have made applications for jobs to be filled when the Democratic office-holders take office.

Marshall C. Moore said the committee will meet with the elected officials to go over the applications.

Meanwhile, today, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson stated that he had not made application for the job of clerk of the board of county commissioners.

He said he was going to spend the first few weeks after leaving the office of sheriff to fix up his place on Cline avenue to which he will move.

Guest Artist Has Role In 'Aida'

Frank Guarrera, who will be guest soloist at the Mansfield Mastersingers concert Jan. 17 and 18, will be heard Friday night at the Metropolitan opera in New York singing the role of Escamilio in "Aida."

Guarrera is the young baritone, graduate of the Curtis Institute, who was to have come to Mansfield last June but who, because of an unexpected engagement with the LaScala Opera company in Milan, postponed his engagement until next month.

Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from the Mastersingers themselves or from Tawse's pharmacy or Ritters.

SANTA'S HERE—Eight children greeted Santa Claus with an enthusiastic welcome at the annual party held by the Amvets Sunday afternoon at the Amvet club. Santa distributes the "treats."

Father Gets 90-Day Suspended Sentence

Samuel T. Johnson, 32, of 279 Park boulevard, was found guilty today of non-support in juvenile court, and was given a suspended 90-day sentence in the county jail.

The suspension was on condition he pay $10 for current support of his son and make up back payments of $480, which have accrued since May 1, 1947. He paid $100 on the back payments and $50 on current support.

Party Friday For 'Y' Boys

A YMCA Christmas party for boy members will be held Friday from 3 to 5 p. m. Stunts, songs and stories are on the program. Mrs. Helen Earhart will furnish accordian music, and Rev. W. M. Taylor, pastor of Park Avenue Baptist church, will speak on the meaning of Christmas.

Oranges and candy will be distributed by Santa Claus.

Arrangements for the party are being made by a committee comprised of W. D. Corcoran, chairman, Roy Miles, Robert Lantz, and Elisha Floro. John W. Fike, "Y" physical director, is helping plan the party.

It seems that there's no real rush about turning out new recordings as the supply of "A White Christmas" appears to be holding out nicely.

It appears that the department of labor is now backing down on an earlier assertion that men spend more for clothes than women do—without even waiting for a Gallup poll on the subject.

'The Life You Save May Be Your Own'

NEED for constant vigilance, when driving an automobile, is given further emphasis by the death of Rex Bell, well known Mansfield resident, in an accident near Utica Sunday.

The coating of snow and slush on streets and highways Sunday made driving more than ordinarily dangerous, as evidenced by the number of minor collisions reported in Mansfield and immediate vicinity, with considerable damage to cars but no serious injuries.

Entry into the winter season, with likelihood of skiddy pavements, adds to driving hazards and suggests the utmost in caution by all motorists who value their own lives or who have regard for the safety of others.

Planned trips by plane are sometimes called off on account of adverse weather conditions. Such an idea might also be applied to ground travel when it seems likely that more than ordinary dangers will be encountered.

Supreme Court Declines To Interfere

NON-INTERFERENCE by the United States Supreme Court in cases of Japanese war criminals under death sentence seems the only reasonable decision to have been made by this tribunal.

It will be remembered that the long-extended trial of former Japanese Premier Tojo and his fellow conspirators was conducted by an international court, in which United States representatives played only a part, and to have reversed the action of that court would have appeared as an assumption of authority over the 11-nation tribunal which heard the evidence and condemned Tojo and six other Japanese war lords to death.

With a turn toward recognition of war guilt, and the perpetration of atrocities during the progress of an aggressive war, as subjecting leaders to later trial and punishment, there can be at least a glimmer of hope that the future may bring such a union of strong, peaceful nations as will make it impossible for such fanatical leaders as Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo to gain sufficient following to start another war.

House On Fire, But 'Line's Busy'

THIS TIME it's from Norwalk that the item comes—the same old story of a party-line telephone being held by two gabby women while a man was vainly trying to gain use of the line to call the fire department.

No use. The women wouldn't surrender the line despite his urgent pleas. So, before firemen could be called his home had been extensively damaged.

Telephones are a great convenience—except those party-line ones that are made practically useless for emergency calls by the long-drawn-out gabfests of persons who have no regard for the reasonable rights of others. What's to be done about it? You tell.

Coal Industry Sees Danger Ahead

THE SOFT COAL industry has filed with the secretary of the interior a report urging that greater consideration be given to soft coal in long range fuel planning. Pointing out that conversion losses and costs are saved when coal is used directly as a source of heat, the report says that ways of using it more conveniently and effectively should continually be sought.

In the last few years soft coal has lost the chief advantages it used to have in competing with other fuels. It used to be thought of as the fuel which could always be gotten when needed, while there were doubts about oil and gas. But this idea vanished when winter strikes in the mines put coal deliveries on a day-to-day basis at times when it was most needed. Coal was once the cheapest fuel in most parts of the country; now this is true in only a few sections, while in many places it is the most expensive.

Most people think that sooner or later price again will be a decisive point in choosing such things as the type of heating or power plants. But after their experiences of the past few years, many household and industrial buyers of fuels will be likely to weigh the probabilities of supply more seriously than price.

The coal industry can expect to recover its lost market only where it can persuade customers that supply in the future will be steady and reliable.

Children Get Candy From the Sky

BUSY young airmen, engaged in the arduous project of flying coal to Berlin, have time and thought to spare for mitigating the cheerlessness of German children's lives.

Lieut. Gale Halvorsen, an Air Force pilot, began last spring to drop candy to the children along his route, using handkerchiefs for parachutes. A television program brought the performance to the notice of several young people's organizations in a New Jersey town, and they are co-operating by providing supplies of parachutes and candy.

American service men are noted for their friendliness and kindliness toward the children with whom they have come in contact. This new example of their thoughtfulness, together with the co-operation of American young people, provides a bright spot in the world news.

The Kansas City Star quips: "Wasn't it monotonous in the old days, when two letters in the mail might bear the same kind of stamp?"

It now appears that the only thing needed to make good on campaign promises is higher taxes.

So your Christmas shopping is all done—congratulations.

Will Legal Service Also Be Socialized?

IT MAY not be long before the lawyers will find themselves shoulder to shoulder with the doctors in a fight against socialization. England, after several years of government medicine, now proposes to establish a form of government-supported legal service.

It can be taken for granted that zealous reformers and politicians in search of an issue will start a drive for the same thing here. And if the threat of government medicine has made doctors politically conscious, imagine what it will do to lawyers!

The English plan is contained in a legal aid and advice bill, presented in November to parliament by the lord high chancellor. It probably will be enacted by the socialist majority without much delay.

Under this socialist plan, the bar will remain—as in the past—an agency and creature of the courts. Barristers and solicitors will continue to practice in their present chambers, alone or in partnership.

But in cases involving needy persons—defined as those with net incomes below $1,700 a year or with net capital of less than $2,100—fees will be paid in whole or in part by the government to the lawyers giving the service.

In higher courts, the government will pay 85 per cent of the fee; in country courts, all of it. The size of the fees apparently will be fixed by the lawyers, under some sort of semi-cooperative arrangements.

The client will be permitted to choose his lawyer. The lawyer will remain in private practice. And he will be paid in fees, not by a government salary.

This scheme is presented in England as a relatively conservative compromise with complete governmentalization of the legal profession, such as prevails in Soviet Russia. There the lawyer is a creature and employe of the ministry of justice. He practices when and where he is assigned. The government fixes the fees and no client needs prove that he is unable to pay.

* * *

No Unified Organization.

ARGUMENTS to adopt the British plan in this country will be powerful, and local bar associations will be advised to prepare for the onslaught.

The left wing of the triumphant Democratic party is thirsting for new forms of what it calls "socialization." It conceives the election to have been a mandate to continue the march toward statism.

It has no Roosevelt to think up new schemes; Truman, after all, has been living on the fragments left by his predecessor. Here is a scheme ready-made, with immense political potentialities which almost any congressman can use to gain notable publicity for himself.

The conservative element in the American bar will face disadvantages in meeting such an attack which are not faced by the medical profession. The latter is a more carefully selected group. Requirements for the practice of medicine are vastly more rigid than those prevailing for admission to the bar.

The legal profession itself has less unity than that of medicine. Only a fraction of the profession belongs to the American Bar Association, and local associations in the cities do not include all or even a big majority of practitioners.

A great number of lawyers are working for small and precarious incomes. And it is fair to say that intense antagonism prevails among the less successful against the more opulent firms and individuals.

The profession in many places is sharply divided between the so-called plaintiff and defendant sides of practice. And there are many loud and persistent left-wingers among lawyers.

It must be recognized that a great deal of evidence can be produced to indicate that justice is not available in equal measure to rich and poor alike.

Rapacious and incompetent lawyers still prey upon the ignorant and the needy. Right-minded lawyers, judges and social agencies have done much to eliminate exploitation, but much remains to be done.

The real issue is whether these evils can be cured by more government and more paternalism.

A Note On Santa Claus

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — A note to anyone who believes in an everlasting Santa Claus:

I know you're busy now buying up a few last minute presents before Christmas.

It's been good shopping, too. People have money and stores are bulging. People and stores in this country, I mean.

And I hope you'll have a fine Christmas, comfortable, surrounded by your family and friends, and with rich, good food.

But on Christmas day if you're going to make one wish above all others, as a lot of people do, let me suggest this one: That next Christmas and all your Christmases be as good and cheerful and peaceful for you as this one. Wish hard for that.

Maybe that sounds a little chilling, like the bony hand of a witch knocking on your windowpane in the moonlight I don't mean it to be.

But I know how easy it is to feel cozy in your own warm house on Christmas day, and forget what's happening in the street outside.

It happened on my own street. The other night I was talking with a couple of neighbors, a man and his wife, who are very happy, earnest people.

She had been shopping all day for their son. And the husband expects a pay raise. So the future looks pretty good and solid to them

She talked about Christmas and democracy. She's a great believer in both. And she seemed to think both are perfectly safe forever, at least here.

She had no doubts about it. And putting together all she said, she said something like this:

If anybody tries to interfere with us, we certainly can take care of them; and in time, when everybody gets a little more wisdom, there'll be democracy everywhere.

* * *

Don't Overlook Facts.

I TOLD her that was comforting, and I hoped it was true, but I told her that before everything is the way she wants it to be, we may have a big job on our hands.

I asked her to wipe her windshield while I told her this story:

At this minute we're like a man caught between two automobiles, both owned by communists, that are backing up on him. We'll try to keep from getting crushed but we'll have to be strong to do it.

To the east of us—we're trying to keep communism, which has taken over half of Europe, from taking the other half.

To the west of us—we're practically helpless to stop the Chinese communists, who've taken over half of China, from taking the other half.

Already 500,000,000 people are living under communism and the figure soon may be 750,000,000 while there are only about 147,000,000 of us here.

In China, with its population of 450,000,000, now 200,000,000 are under the communists and the other 250,000,000 will be if the communists win, as they seem likely to; Russia's 200,000,000 are under communism; and the rest of the 500,000,000 are in the countries of Europe run by the communists.

Even in western Europe there is no solid wall of democracy.

Franco's Spain is fascist and its next door neighbor, Portugal, is under "strong man" control.

And of the Latin American republics in our own western hemisphere just south of us, seven are under military or "strong man" rule.

My neighbor's wife, in one way or another, was aware of these things before I mentioned them, although vaguely. She had tried hard, I think, not to think of them. She looked solemn when I finished.

"I hope I didn't spoil your Christmas," I said.

"No," she said. "I think that keeping those things fresh in the top of my mind will help me value my Christmas this year a little more."

Russia Had Spies Planted Inside Japan

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Forrestal had a significant conversation with two of his top men the other day—Admiral Sid Souers, secretary of the National Security Council, and General Al Gruenther, director of the joint chiefs of staff.

Forrestal said that he wanted them to get him a top-secret Army report on communist espionage inside Japan. Because certain Americans were involved in this pre-Pearl Harbor espionage, the report has been considered highly secret.

However, Forrestal asked Admiral Souers and General Gruenther to "declassify" it (make it nonsecret) immediately.

"I want to give it to Joe Alsop," explained the secretary of national defense, referring to one of the newsmen who has consistently trumpeted the idea that Forrestal's continuation in office was essential to the nation.

The Army promptly cabled General MacArthur asking if he has any objection to making the secret report available to the Alsop brothers (in order to further the Forrestal campaign to remain in office). But although MacArthur, at this writing, had not replied, here are the main details of the top-secret report which Secretary Forrestal wants given to his pets of the press.

* * *

Vice Consul Involved.

THE STORY is somewhat similar to that now being unfolded before a New York grand jury and the un-American activities committee. Just as the Russians planted key men inside the U. S. government, so they also began long before the war to plant key spies inside Japan. They began operating about 1934 and continued to 1941—two months before Pearl Harbor.

Two Germans were involved, two Japs educated in the United States, two Americans, and one German-British newspaperman. One of the Americans was Agnes Smedley, who lived twenty years in the Orient, has written many books on China, and who is listed in Who's Who as currently living in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where she has been a teacher at Skidmore college. A telephone call to Saratoga brought the information that she was no longer there.

The other American was Tycho Lilliestrom, U. S. Vice Consul at Harbin, Manchuria. Born in Finland, Lilliestrom served 21 years in the consular service, and died in 1943. It was in his home in Harbin that the communist spies assembled a powerful radio set later smuggled into Japan.

* * *

What Russia Learned.

SO SUCCESSFUL was the Russian spy ring in penetrating innermost Japanese government circles, that some of the war lords' most vital secrets were transmitted by shortwave radio to Moscow. The spies learned among other things that:

1. The Jap war lords would definitely attack the United States. This information went to Moscow two months before Pearl Harbor.

2. Japan would not join an alliance against Russia. This was learned in 1937, and caused Stalin, shortly thereafter, to sign the Nazi-Russian alliance, which in turn left Hitler free to wage war against France and England. Undoubtedly this piece of information alone swayed the tides of history.

3. Japan would not attack Russia. This information, sent to Moscow in 1941, caused Stalin to pull all his reserves out of Siberia and concentrate them in front of Moscow. Without this intelligence information, Moscow might have fallen.

Head of the communist spy ring was Richard Sorge. Born in Baku, a soldier in the German army, he carefully prepared for his work by taking a special espionage course in Moscow and then becoming Far Eastern correspondent for several German newspapers.

In Shanghai he met Agnes Smedley, who put him in touch with Japanese communists. In Tokyo, posing always as a German newsman, he became press attache to the German embassy and close friend of the German ambassador. All the secrets of the embassy passed through his hands.

* * *

Los Angeles Japs Involved.

SORGE'S co-conspirators were a Los Angeles Japanese woman named Tomo Kitabayani; a Japanese artist from the United States named Totika Miyago; a German businessman and radio operator named Max Klausen; and most important of all, Hozuni Ozaki, a Jap communist who became an editor of the Tokyo Asahi and a close adviser to the prime minister of Japan.

Ozaki had access to some of the highest Japanese government secrets, which were transmitted to Moscow via Sorge and Klausen's shortwave radio.

Klausen sent his messages by going out in a boat, dressed as a fisherman, and operating his radio as far as possible from shore. Although the Japs intercepted the messages and tried hard to find the transmitter, they were never able to do so.

Nor were they ever able to decipher the code until shortly before Pearl Harbor, when, through an accident, they caught one of the spies, Ritzu Ito, formerly of Los Angeles. He talked.

After that all were caught, tried, and the two top men—Sorge and Ozaki — beheaded. Klausen gave the Japs the secret code used to transmit the radio messages, whereupon all the back messages were translated.

When General MacArthur granted amnesty to Japanese political prisoners after V-J day in 1945, he discovered the remnants of the communist spy-ring still in prison and turned them loose. From the Japanese court records, his chief intelligence officer, General Charles Willoughby, pieced together this amazing story of communist intrigue.

Note — Some of the Japanese spy leaders now head Japanese labor unions, and one of them, Ritzu Ito, is a leading communist.

Digging For the Truth

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—This is the introduction of a series of articles which will shock some people, frighten others and anger still others.

It concerns the security of the capital of the United States during this time of increasingly tense cold war. As such, it unquestionably is unnecessary to point out that it therefore also concerns the security of the entire nation, and, to a large extent, the entire world.

It is regretted by this writer that it will anger some people—particularly so since many of them will be the very individuals who have co-operated greatly in gathering the material which made the articles possible.

Also, the dangerous security conditions are not fundamentally their fault at all. Rather the existence of such conditions is our fault. But the blame is almost certain to fall on them.

However, there is no regret in the realization that the subsequent series unquestionably will shock and frighten many of the rest of us. In the final analysis, correcting these conditions before they have progressed from the dangerous stage into the deadly stage will depend upon the instigation of the rank and file of Americans.

During the course of gathering the material and preparing it for this series, the writer has made the probably not-new discovery that working under the self-imposed censorship of a "cold war" can be even more cumbersome than operating under the rigidly-enforced military censorship which controls active war correspondence.

The discovery bred a belated and grudging gratitude for the countless military censors with whom the writer feuded constantly throughout the war and around the world.

In case of doubt, their job was to say "no," which they did with great consistency; our job was to shout "yes," which we did with table-pounding emphasis.

Yet the past several weeks of self-imposed censorship, of deciding what to leave in and what to cut out of the subsequent series, have convinced the writer that had the decision been left up to him, he probably would have killed more of his own wartime copy than the censors did!

In any case, the result of the aforementioned self-censorship is that the subsequent series probably contains no information at all which is not already known to foreign powers—both friendly and unfriendly.

In every matter of even minute doubt involving security, the problem has been solved by blue-penciling the questionable copy.

* * *

No Keyhole-Peeping.

BUT the point of importance is that most of the material in the series was new to the writer, at least in total effect. Also, it was new to other newsmen and officials with whom he talked on the subject, and quite probably will come as a somewhat jolting surprise to many readers.

It should be pointed out that, despite the seeming "expose" quality of some of the articles, there has been absolutely no keyhole-peeping in gathering the material.

In every single instance, the writer went directly to the federal, military or scientific officials in charge, presented his credentials and stated his purpose.

After that, however, he felt free to draw his own conclusions about what he saw, heard and did. Quite often, those conclusions did not support the opinions of the people interviewed—although many times even their personal opinions differed greatly from the official opinions which high policy dictated that they utter.

The writer, who is not given to hysteria or scare spasms, found most of the conclusions frightening. He became convinced that Washington, D. C.—the nation's administrative, legislative, judicial and military heart, and the present center of world atomic energy information — is woefully unprotected.

The first article to follow this will set forth, in points roughly outlined, exactly why that conviction was reached. Subsequent articles will take up each point in turn and present both official claims and available evidence, in oft-conflicting detail.

It will not make pleasant reading.

Timely Editorial

Consistently Defiant.

Miss Vivien Kellems, the Connecticut cable grip manufacturer who regularly and hopefully "violates" the withholding tax law, has done it again.

If the Treasury also follows form, it will again frustrate Miss Kellems by neglecting to prosecute. She requires her employes to make their own income tax payments, which she refuses to deduct from their wages.

The Treasury, conceivably preferring to avoid a court test of the withholding law, has been content to get the money and let the principle ride.

It is not clear whether principle or publicity is Miss Kellem's main interest in a routine that has grown tiresome to onlookers.—Detroit News.

German 'Bill' a Problem

Fears, Doubts Face Charter Officials

BONN, Germany —(AP)—Ghosts of the past and doubts and fears of the future haunt the 65 German constitution makers laboriously fashioning the charter of a new west Germany.

Probably no constitution ever was written under more trying circumstances. The Germans are constantly attacked by the Russians. They must account to the western allies. At the same time they know their work will be judged by their own people.

When the western Germans gathered in this ancient Rhine city on Sept. 1, the Berlin crisis hung darkly over them. It still does.

Should the Big Four finally decide to convoke a foreign ministers' conference to examine the entire German question, the west German idea might be scrapped and the constitution consigned to the wastebasket.

Communists in their midst charge them with "stooging" for the western allies and splitting their fatherland. From eastern Germany the Russians call them traitors and threaten revenge.

France, one of the sponsors of the new state, barely ratified the six-power London conference which decided to set it up. The French and the Benelux countries voice frequent fears that even a mutilated western Germany might grow too powerful.

Along with the French, even the British and Americans are not offering the best cooperation, in the view of the German constitution writers.

British, French and Americans have still to agree among themselves on the terms of the occupation statute. They contend, however, that the work of writing the two documents is not necessarily conflicting and the Germans should get ahead with their job.

"What's the use of announcing a constitution and then have two thirds of it nullified by the occupation statute?" asked Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Christian Democrat president of the BONN convention and former mayor of Cologne.

In the meantime, however, some idea of the outlines of the future state emerges from committee work.

The west German state probably will be called "Bundesrepublik Deutchland" — Federal Republic, Germany—but so touchy are the political leaders of any charge that they are splitting Germany that they have called the charter "the fundamental law of a provisional constitution."

They likewise decided to call the Bonn gathering "parliamentary council" instead of "constitutional convention."

To avoid any suggestion that the charter is dividing Germany, the preamble holds the door open to eventual participation by the eastern Germans.

"We appeal to the German people in its entirety," it states, "to complete their national unity and freedom within a German federal republic by joint decision and in joint responsibility."

The west German state will follow the European parliamentary pattern rather than the American presidential type. There will be a president, an upper and lower house, and a premier and cabinet. There probably will be a number of high courts charged with specific problems, such as labor and finance.

The Germans rejected the American form of government because it could lead easily to dictatorship, according to Carlo Schmid, chairman of the steering committee.

The constitution writers are leaning over backwards to insure civil liberties and to outlaw aggressive war.

"There is more liberty in this document than there is in yours," Schmid told an American correspondent. Freedom of speech, press, assembly, worship is guaranteed in various articles.

Check Papers, Vets Are Urged

World War II veterans planning to begin education or training under the GI bill must have a certificate of eligibility issued since Sept. 1, G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield Veterans Administration office announced today.

Thousands of veterans have received certificates during the past few years anticipating using them sometime in the future, Weidemaier explained. The old ones will no longer be valid after Jan. 1 and must be exchanged for the new kind, he added.

Only the veterans planning to enter training for the first time need to obtain the new forms, Weidemaier said.

Have You Planned Your Holiday Table Appointments?

By ALICE DENHOFF

LET'S get down to the very pleasant subject of holiday decorations.

Food fixings that form part of the centerpiece or serve as place cards help along good cheer and merriment. Use thin-skinned oranges for place cards. Tie a crepe paper bonnet on each, or paper frill to frame face. Make eyes by cutting out two ovel pieces of white paper, and affixing to orange with blue thumb tacks, used for eye-pupils, Cut mouth of red paper and affix with a tiny red thumb tack or map pin. A little lipstick rubbed into the "cheeks" will simulate the proper rosy glow. Cut eyebrows or hair by cutting strips from suitably colored paper, and affix with straight pins. Place name of guest on card, which is propped up under the "chin." Youngsters, especially delight in such gestures.

Have plenty of Christmas "elves" on hand to express the holiday spirit. Use a pulled fig for the body. Insert a wire through the top and the bottom. Cover the wire with pitted dates for the arms and legs, and with raisins for hands and feet.

Attach a marshmallow head by means of a toothpick neck. "Blondes" have the top of the heads dipped into light corn syrup, and then into toasted coconut.

FANCY POPCORN BALLS

Not just plain popcorn balls, but fancy affairs with nutmeats in their innards, then add wrapped in cellophane and tied with ribbons to the tree or placed in clusters at strategic places, makes for something pretty special. Dissolve 2 c. sugar and ½ c. dark corn syrup in 1¼ c. hot water; cook slowly, without stirring to 260 F. (firm ball stage.) Add tsp. vanilla, Tbsp. vinegar and ½ tsp. salt. Cook to 26 F. (or until a solid but not brittle ball is formed in cold water).

While syrup is cooking, crisp 5 qt. popped corn in oven. When syrup is cooked, remove popped corn from oven (it should be piping hot) and sprinkle 1½ c. pecan nutmeats on top. Pour syrup lightly over popcorn and nut mixture, turning slightly with wooden spoon. Rub cooking oil lightly on hands and press balls together with firm, light cupping of the palms to shape.

Give Your Tree a New Look

Christmas means your home at its gracious best—fragrant with pine boughs and spicy baking, packages piled high and stockings bursting their sides. To help you with your decorations here are a number of interesting suggestions from the Woman's Home Companion.

You can kill two birds with one stone by displaying your cards on the Christmas tree. Put a small live tree in a red pot. Then, as the cards come in, tie them on. For front door gaiety take a small evergreen bough, tie it with a jumbo red bow and then add a child's toy drum. Be sure and leave the sticks attached. It makes a novel way for your friends to announce their arrival.

Give your Christmas tree a new look this year, and incidentally this is a wonderfully inexpensive way to decorate a large tree. Trim it with pine cones that you have brightened by dipping in aluminum paint or flecking with bright colors such as pink, red, yellow. If you coat some of the cones with glue and then sprinkle with colored sparkles they will glow when the tree lights are on.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 22

THIS is a most auspicious time for pushing forward, with all the energy, determination, initiative and power, to break up static or delaying situations, in which personal, career and financial ambitions may have been obstructed. The timely application of practical ways and means, concentrated effort and shrewd analysis, may be the force to "move mountains" and bring stability and progress, with joy and lasting gratification. Lady Luck may be counted upon to assist.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a turn in the tide of obstructed or frustrated conditions, not only by the marshalling of all ingenuity, practical skill, keen analysis and determination, but by the intervention of some lucky stroke or opening which may greatly advance lasting security, progress and firm foundations for growth. The prospects are for definite returns and gratification for good work, courage and determination to succeed.

A child born on this day should have excellent equipment mentally, physically, and with stable qualities, for definite progress against obstacles and limitations.

Crestline Home Is Meeting Place

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Charles Jacobs of North Pearl street entertained the Sewing club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Leona Horning presided for the business. In a contest Mrs. Horning received the prize. Mrs. Richard Iiams was presented a shower of handkerchiefs for her birthday. Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Horning were presented stork showers. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Russell Iiams will be hostess at her home in Galion, Jan. 4.

A delicious dish for Sunday night supper is made by combining canned crabmeat with a cream sauce flavored with a little dry mustard. Sprinkle with shredded yellow cheese and a dusting of paprika and brown lightly under the broiler.

New Holiday Hint For Homemakers

Want a new idea for decorating your Christmas tree? Well, here's a honey.

You know how sparkling white fir trees in the forest look when they're covered with fresh-fallen snow? You can get that same effect on your indoor tree by making your own Christmas "Snow." Here's how you do it.

Take a large box of Lux Flakes and gradually add about two cups of lukewarm water. Beat this Lux Flakes mixture with an egg beater until it has the consistency of thick whipped cream. Then spread it with your fingers along the branches of your tree. Let it dry before adding your lights and ornaments.

Here's a practical advantage of this snowy covering. It won't melt and, by retaining the moisture, makes your tree last longer, and it's safer, too. You'll be delighted at how lovely your tree lights look reflected on the "snow."

You can use this same Christmas "Snow" on your table evergreens and mantle decorations. It's amazingly inexpensive, and it will make your whole house look more Christmas-y!

Galion Scene Of Class Party

Twenty-one persons were present for the combined class meeting and Christmas party held at the home of Miss Janice King, 528 Grove Street, Galion, for the Lamplighters' Class of the First Christian Church of Mansfield.

The devotions consisted of a story read by Miss King and two songs sung by the group, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Ellen McFarland.

A short business session was conducted by the president, Richard Warne, and officers were elected for 1949. Mr. Warne will again serve as president, Martin Beminiller as vice president, Miss Ruth Ellen McFarland, secretary, Miss Maizie Birmelin, assistant secretary, and Wayne McFarland, treasurer.

Following the meeting a social evening was enjoyed by the group. Games were played and Christmas carols were sung.

A luncheon was served.

College students present at the party were Gene Calver, Dick Hollingsworth, George McCauslin, and Pete Rider, all students at Ohio State University.

Advisors for the class are Mrs. Jay Chubbs and Mr. Richard Hammell. Minister is Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger.

PINOCHLE CLUB

The M. N. Pinochle club met recently for their regular dinner and cards at the home of Mrs. Charles Sowash, South Main street. Table appointments were in the holiday season and a gift exchange was held. High scores were won by Mrs. John Spiker and Mrs. Harold Hill. The next meeting will be held Jan. 6 at the home of Mrs. Effie Keltner, 303 Wayne street.

SNOW FLAKES FROM SOAP FLAKES!

Mrs. Barbara Nutting, pretty Wellesley, Mass. housewife, assures a glistening white and long-lasting Christmas tree in her home with "snow" made by beating up a package of Lux Flakes with two cups of warm water. Applied to the branches of the tree while still moist, it not only gives the effect of soft, freshly fallen snow, but also keeps the pine needles moist so that they last longer and are more resistant to fire.

Work Hours Being Pared In Galion

Unemployment Slump Noted

GALION — In making a survey of employment conditions in Galion this week it was found that unemployment is worse now than it has been in the past seven years. It is estimated that some 350 to 400 persons are temporarily unemployed, while an additional 300 are either working half of the regular time or less hours each week.

Claims at the Ohio State Employment office have been running at the rate of 150 per week. This indicates there are around 300 to 350 persons actually without work as about half of the number of unemployed either are not eligible for claims, or they do not file them.

A clothing factory where some 300 persons are employed, is dividing the work so employes work one week and are idle another week.

Industries which seem to be hardest hit are those making dump bodies and hoists, and the garment manufacturers. At one of the former industries, 150 men are temporarily without employment at present, and two other concerns making similar products have 50 at each company temporarily unemployed. In order to relieve the condition at one of these plants, the remainder of the employes (about 150) are working less number of hours per week than normal.

Youth Held To Grand Jury

Milton Glover, 19, of Morehead, Ky., today was bound over to the Richland county grand jury on a charge of non-support in municipal court. He pleaded guilty and bond was set at $500.

Kenneth Cushing, Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined $75 and costs for driving while intoxicated.

Charles Miller, Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined $10 and costs for speeding. William M. Dillon, Lucas, was assessed $5 and costs for failure to register a motor vehicle.

Lloyd Vernon Tompkins, Mineral Ridge, O., forfeited a $50 bond for operating an overloaded motor vehicle.

Last Rites Set

HOLLYWOOD, — (UP) — The body of Sir C. Aubrey Smith, famed English character actor of stage and screen, will be cremated today following private services at Beverly Hills, Cal. Memorial service will be held next Tuesday at All Saints Episcopal church for the veteran actor, who died yesterday after a brief illness.

PARTICIPANTS IN LUCAS MUSICAL—The Lucas high school Girls Ensemble shares the spotlight with the 12-grade school Christmas musical program, starting in the school at 8 p. m. Wednesday. On the steps, reading from right up the steps, are: Patty Jones, Wanda Berry, Mildred Tucker, Rosella Berry, Maxine Barr and Loretta Applegate.

Twenty-one employes of the Stuhldreher Floral company will receive profit-sharing Christmas bonuses totaling $5,850, John H. Kullman, president of the company, announced today.

Kullman said the bonus is being distributed to all employes who have been with the company for a year or longer.

Meeting Called Off

The weekly meeting of the Employed Girls club of the YWCA, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been cancelled. There will be no meeting next week, either, because of the holidays, according to Miss Dorothy Hainer, business and industrial girls' secretary of the YWCA.

English Workshop In City's Schools to Start Jan. 4

Establishment in Mansfield of an English workshop under the direction of Dr. Wilfred Eberhart of Ohio State university was approved by the Board of Education last night.

Thirty teachers in the city's schools already have registered for the course, which will begin Jan. 4 and last through the winter quarter. The workshop will meet every Thursday evening at John Simpson junior high school. It will be carried out through the joint efforts of the Mansfield English council and Ohio State university.

The teachers enrolled in the workshop propose to develop a course of study in English or language arts for grades 1 to 12. It is expected to be an outline that will unify and integrate the work of teachers in these subjects so each teacher will know what the preceding grade attempted to accomplish and will know the aims of the grade she is teaching.

Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller told the Board of Education Dr. Eberhart plans to visit classes in Mansfield schools every Wednesday to acquaint himself with the problems and methods of Mansfield schools and develop a more practical approach to the teaching of English here.

The cost to the Board of Education will be approximately $225, Dr. Eberhart's expenses, Supt. Miller reported.

Fees for the teachers are $10 for tuition and $5 for laboratory fees. They will receive three quarter hours of credit upon completion of the course, although teachers not desiring college credit may enroll for auditing.

Board OK's Wage Rates

The Mansfield Board of Education last night approved hourly-wage payments to four instructors in bricklaying and evening trade extension courses.

Approved was an hourly fee of $3.50 for Mason R. Harding of Akron, instructor of the apprentice training class in bricklaying, recently organized at Senior high school, and $2 per hour for instructors in the evening trade extension courses. The instructors are V. G. Childs, R. D. Schaaf, and E. P. Cook.

The State Department of Education pays for 60 per cent of operating costs of the course, through use of state and federal funds, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said. The balance is paid from a $5 fee from each of the 15 apprentices and a contribution from the Richland Shale Brick company.

The class is held on alternate Saturdays from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and materials are furnished by local brick firms and contractors.

The automotive, electrical and machine shop classes have a total enrollment of 40 pupils.

Two Amvets Get Posts

Two members of the Robert P. Spreng post, Amvets, have been appointed members of state committees, it was announced at the regular post meeting last night.

Louis Doerr, commander, has been named to the publications committee and Robert Bonham, past commander, to the ways and means committee.

Members also heard a report of the mid-winter conference recently held in Lima. At that meeting, Amvets went on record as upholding the act of the state commander in revoking the charters of two Portsmouth posts because they had allowed "social" members into the club, contrary to the Amvet constitution.

Members at the mid-winter meeting also voted to urge Congress to allow a finance rate of four and one-half per cent to facilitate building for veterans. The present ceiling rate is four per cent. The increase will be urged to induce finance companies to allow loans on new buildings.

Two Roseland Teachers Hired

The board of education last night approved the appointment of two teachers for the Roseland school.

Mrs. Adelia Courtright and Mrs. Joyce Boshea were hired to begin Jan. 3. They are expected to be employed as substitute teachers at other schools until Roseland school opens.

The resignation of Miss Ruth Baer, 110 Carpenter road, was accepted. She had been teaching at Rebecca Grubaugh school.

Landon Correct In Saying U. S. Standards Are Becoming Lower

WASHINGTON—It is the considered opinion of Alf M. Landon, the well-known forgotten man, that the decline of the United States began when the people lost their ancient respect for two pair.

This is a fetching theory. Like the cops and parental authority, two pair once were defied only at risk. Mr. Landon puts the time about 1936, the year the people passed up a chance to hire him to put them back to work at useful jobs, chase Eleanor Roosevelt down the road with her cult of political neurotics, repulse the communists and keep the country out of war.

It is a curious fact that Mr. Landon's greatest single act, or decision, was of a negative character once he had been defeated in the landslide of 1936 which gave Jim Farley such empty pride of prophecy.

As the war reddened and as Winston Churchill, by his own boast, toiled and plotted to get us into it, Mr. Roosevelt tried to entice into his cabinet both Landon and Frank Knox, the republican ticket of 1936, and scuttle the opposition party. Knox agreed with Landon to spurn all trinkets but broke his word ere cock-crow and never dared face Alf again.

Three days before Pearl Harbor he babbled "The Navy is ready" and while 3,000 dead Americans were entering the earth or bobbing on the water, Knox cowered behind Roosevelt's "directive" to Justice Roberts to investigate "derelictions" of Navy and Army officers but not the guilt of civilians in Washington.

Topeka being in the zone where fundamental American faith found its last refuge, Mr. Landon has been depressed to learn that Jesse Jones, of Houston, played Seven-Toed Pete, a profanation of a precious American institution. Pete is inflationary Stud-Poker, played with four cards up and three in the hole and often with four cards wild.

It is only one of many corruptions which Mr. Landon abhorred. There are other depravities called Spit in the Ocean, Up and Down the River, Hi-Lo, One Card Hi-Lo, Omaha, Baseball and Ma Ferguson, the latter probably from some moral swale of Texas—Huntsville prison at a guess.

A fellow who has yearned to hold a royal flush finds himself conjuring the dream-hand with a king and queen of hearts, two deuces and a one-eyed jack of spades, which are wild.

He wins $14.40 with a final reckless toss of four blues, value one 60-cent Truman dollar, driving out a dogged office-boy with a full house composed of two treys, two fours and the other one-eyed jack. The actual value, of the winning hand is the lowest pair known to society.

Mr. Landon is right. There is a corruption of the American soul. It is expressed in Seven-Toed Pete. It is seen in the practice now of teeing on the fairway and in the adoption of the bigger cup in golf: in the growth of softball and touch football, the substitution of the rabbit ball in the major leagues and, finally, in trial marriage with the Reno reservation in the vows.

World-Wide 'Throwing Away Day' Would Solve Problems of Peace

NEW YORK—You can grow richer by discarding as well as by keeping.

And what the world could well use this time of year is an international "throwing away day."

It could become just as important as "swat the fly" day, send-a-flower-to-your - mother - in-law day. The best time for "throwing away day" is around Christmas because it is only at that season that man summons up the courage to be the way he yearns to.

For years I have had a kind of informal throwing away day during the week before Santa Claus comes. It consists largely of clearing my desk.

That doesn't seem like much of an adventure. But to me it is an epic task. For I am one of those forlorn folk cursed with a lifelong habit of being disorderly.

Each January the desk starts the new year as clean as the proverbial whistle.

But the daily snow of letters soon begins to hide its green surface. By spring the top no longer can be seen. By summer the stick is knee high, and by fall it is waist deep. A small child, thrown into it accidentally, would suffocate before it could be found and rescued.

Here the year is embalmed in mixed up paper layers, like the cross section of a mountain tossed up in the earth's old agony.

Month by month as the pile grows higher it plagues my conscience more and more. But when I finally gather up strength for my annual throwing away day, what do I find in this self-made hill of debris?

Nothing really very important. Only small problems postponed daily until they have become a great worrisome mound of care.

The desk is tidy, bare and new again, and I feel like I've had a nice clean shower.

And in this mood I wonder why the same formula wouldn't work for mental ills that plague us as well as for this simple task of cleaning a littered desk.

Why shouldn't there be an international "throwing away" day? Instead of merely getting rid of an accumulation of unanswered letters, mankind could cleanse itself of all the petty hates and prejudices that set brother against brother, husband against wife, east against west, north against south.

Into the wastebasket with E. Yes, all of them—all the useless doubts, fears, grudges, confusions and groundless dislikes that clutter up life and keep us from the spirit of loving-kindness.

And there the world would stretch new and clean and fresh again, fair to the eye and lovely to live in. Yes, the lion would lie down with the lamb (with the lamb outside him), and Fort Worth and Dallas—they'd love each other all year round. So would Minneapolis and St. Paul.

YULETIDE RUSH—Employes of the Mansfield post office were wondering where it all came from yesterday as they worked in the mail room, at top, surrounded by stacks of parcel post and other mail which was pouring into the office in flood-like quantities. Below, the source of some of the numerous packages is shown as Mansfielders line up to mail Christmas gifts at the parcel post window.

Holiday Mail Sets Record at Post Office

Monday was the biggest day, in terms of number of cancellations, in the history of the Mansfield post office, Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said.

Cancellations at the post office yesterday totaled 201,513, an increase of more than 92,000 over the corresponding date last year.

However, receipts yesterday were only $2,376, $1,240 less than on the same date last year. And although 110,000 stamps were sold yesterday, 10,000 more than on the same date a year ago, the value of the stamps sold yesterday was $389 less than the same date last year.

Ford said he thought Christmas mailing reached its peak yesterday, and would gradually taper off during the remaining days before Christmas.

This morning 116 extra men and 14 trucks were being used to deliver holiday mail.

All parcel post received at the post office by noon is being delivered the same day, Ford said.

During the 24-hour period ended at 7 a. m. today the post office handled approximately 257,600 letters and cards in incoming mail and 266,800 letters and cards in outgoing mail.

Ford said the number of letters and cards in outgoing mail was larger than the number of cancellations because the post office here handles letters which have been cancelled in other post offices in the area.

HITCHHIKER JAILED

MINNEAPOLIS —(U.P.)— Valentine G. Leiser, Dover, O., thumbed his way into jail today. He was convicted for the fifth time of thumbing rides while wearing an army uniform.

B-B Pellets Pierce Pane

The mysterious B-B "gunmen" were reported busy again last night as police received a call from a Tremont avenue home where the small pellets had pierced a living room window.

T. V. Park, owner of the home at 435 Tremont, reported to police at 7:19 p. m. he and his wife were sitting in a living room when they heard a noise at the window. Police investigation turned up a small hole pierced in the room's window.

Park said he and his wife heard a car drive away at about the same time they heard the noise at the window.

At 10:24 p. m. Bartley Bowers, 561 Park avenue west, reported to police a prowler was peeping in the windows of his home. Police failed to find the prowler.

New Home Looted, Owner Tells Sheriff

Theft of building materials and tools from a new house at 310 Gem avenue, was reported to sheriff's deputies last night by W. M. Wise, Oak street road.

Wise said he believed the house was entered Dec. 20. Missing were a wood chisel, a roll of roofing, an alarm clock and a step ladder. Wise said the plaster in the kitchen also was damaged.

ERROR BY COINCIDENCE

A startling coincidence of almost identical names of first cousins, their ages and birthplaces resulted in a mis-statement in the John S. Monteith obituary in Monday's News-Journal. Monteith, found dead by a self-inflicted bullet wound in front of his trailer home in Trailer City Sunday morning, was reported to have frequently stayed with the children of Coach and Mrs. Harry Mehock. However, it was not he, but his first cousin, John T. Monteith, 78, who was a friend of the Mehocks. John T. was a retired Mansfield Tire and Rubber company employe. He died Dec. 9 in Clearview sanitarium in Ashland. Both men were born in Plymouth, John S. Monteith on Nov. 10, 1866, and John T. Monteith on Dec. 23, 1869.

Grange Holds Yule Party

The annual Christmas party of Madison Grange was attended by 75 when members and their children met in the Veterans hall in Lucas last night.

Following a covered-dish supper, there was a program of recitations by Wanda K. McFarland, Linda McPhern, Judy McFarland, John Barnhill, Mary Schwartz; vocal solo, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" by Peggy Lou Fisher; a reading by Marilyn McFarland and two songs, "Bethlehem" and "Lilac Tree" by Vivian McBride.

Santa then appeared with treats for children and later gifts were exchanged.

At the next meeting of the grange on Jan. 6, there will be a joint session for the installation of officers at the Worthington grange hall in Butler. Harry Stroup, master of the Pamona grange will be the installing officer.

DAYTON — (AP) — Christmas food trains from 13 states are scheduled to be rolling toward the hungry overseas by tonight. The train is loaded with farm produce collected through Christian rural overseas program (CROP).

Building Will Be Enlarged

7-Room Project Scheduled

The school board last night approved the purchase of 2.62 acres of land from Fred G. Constance, 515 South Russell road, for a proposed addition to the Woodland school.

The announced purchase price is $10,000. The land is a triangular plot directly behind the present building.

The board also named Vernon Redding associates, an architectural firm, to draw up plans for the addition.

The Woodland project calls for a seven-room addition to relieve over-crowding at the school, one of the newest in the city. The program will be financed from the $2,250,000 worth of bonds voted Nov. 2. It is expected to cost about $194,000.

OPENS BIDS JAN. 12

The board will open bids on the sale of the $2,250,000 bond issue at noon Jan. 12. Advertising for bidders was authorized at last night's meeting. The board acted to deposit the bonds in the Cleveland Federal Reserve bank.

The board rejected bids offered for the supply and installation of curtains, other stage equipment, and window drapes for the Roseland, Newman, and West Fifth street schools. The bids were rejected because there were too many discrepancies in them, the board said.

Bids from the Billherm Studios, North Canton, and the Janson Industries, Canton, were opened Nov. 29.

Authority was given the school board clerk to re-advertise for bids.

Attendance Mark Best

The Carpenter elementary school had the best attendance percentage for the period beginning Nov. 1 and ended Nov. 26, a school board report showed today.

That school had a percentage of attendance of 96.6 for the period. Brinkerhoff elementary school was second with 96 per cent and West Fifth street elementary school was third with 95.5 per cent.

The following schools reported no cases of truancy. Brinkerhoff, Bushnell, Rebecca Grubaugh, Hedges, Prospect, West Fifth street, Woodland, School for Deaf, Sunshine, and Sight Saving.

During the November period 3,490 pupils were neither absent nor tardy. Average percentage of attendance for all the city schools was 92.85. A total of 891 cases of tardiness and 66 cases of truancy were reported.

The distributive education class reported 23 working pupils earned a total of $1,701.49 in 17 stores. Average earnings were $18.27 per week for an average of 29 hours a week.

Crestline Girl Jailed For Swindling Columbus Stores

CRESTLINE — Lillian Virginia Lightburn, 21, local coed at Ohio State university, was to have a preliminary hearing today in municipal court at Columbus on charges of bilking a downtown Columbus store of $2,000 by forging names to charge accounts of customers.

Forgery charges were placed yesterday and police said the loot of jewelry, clothing and other merchandise was gift wrapped, apparently as Christmas presents for her family and friends.

Miss Lightburn, a College of Commerce sophomore, was taken into custody by store detectives as she attempted to obtain merchandise under a false name, Columbus Detective George W. Deckard said. He said he and Detective Isaac D. Moore accompanied store detectives to her apartment and recovered about $2,000 worth of dresses, sweaters, skirts, costume jewelery, bed clothing and other articles.

Local residents know her as 'Ginny' as she didn't use her first name until after her father, J. G. Lightburn, 66, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer, was killed on Oct. 6 west of Pittsburgh as the Fort Pitt train crashed into a huge boulder on the main track. His fireman, R. G. Rombke, also of Crestline, was killed and 12 passengers injured in the crash.

Virginia is the youngest member of the family whose home is at 426 West Main street. Seven other brothers and sisters have left home. Her mother, Blanche, was named Ohio's Outstanding Mother in 1946 as all her children had graduated from the local high school, attended colleges and worked on the Pennsylvania railroad while out of classes.

Virginia still makes her home with her mother but returned to Ohio State last fall after previously enrolling there and working here in the Pennsylvania mail and baggage room. The arrest shocked local residents as the Lightburn family is respected and Lillian Virginia was admitted into membership in the local Eastern Star lodge.

Senior High Hoopsters Favored Tonight

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SENIOR HIGH school athletes, past and present, lost one of their true friends yesterday when Mathias "Pop" Elias, the affable equipment custodian, passed on to the sports valhalla . . . A real pal to varsity and intramural athletes alike, Pop was also a confidant of some of the top figures in midwestern sports . . . Many times we've been in Pop's equipment office in the basement of the high school when these sports figures have carried on interesting conversations with the slight fellow . . . He could talk on an even plane with the biggest and the smallest in the world of sports . . . Two things we'll always remember about Pop . . . He had the finest sense of humor imaginable and he never forgot a face . . . Tyger athletes for more than 12 years always remained fresh in his memory . . . He came to Mansfield back in the days when Russ Murphy and Harry Mehock were the lone members of the coaching staff . . . So he saw coaches and players come and go . . . And Pop always had a good word for all of these hundreds of men and boys . . . He had children of his own but all the Tyger athletes were also "his boys."

★

ONE OF THE Senior high present-day athletes contacted us last night . . . "Did you hear about Pop?" . . . We admitted we had. . . ."He was a grand guy . . . he always had a joke for us . . . we liked to sit in his office and talk . . . it's going to be different around the school. There'll be nobody who can take his place."

★

THEN LATER in the evening, we talked to one of the girls who had known Pop . . . She too had a tribute, "Not many of us girls had a chance to know him well, but we all thought he was a wonderful man. He always had a story for us which somehow made life seem a bit brighter."

★

AN ARDENT fisherman, Pop was a native of Holland . . . He had been in the lumber business in the Philippines and in Seattle, Wash., before coming to Mansfield . . . Pop had come here on a vacation and decided to make Mansfield his home when he was offered the post at Senior high . . . The job was right up his alley and he seemed to get younger as the years went on.

★

WE HAD the privilege of introducing Pop at the football banquet last month . . . The Tyger players had insisted that Pop be an eleventh hour addition to the speaker's roster . . . In a halting voice (he was a bit nervous before the mike), Pop told the assemblage, "You've asked me for a speech, but no speech. But I can tell you this year's team gave less trouble than any I've ever seen." . . . Then he added with a twinkle, "I've seen a lot come and go" . . . Many speakers appeared on the rostrum that night but to Pop went the grandest applause . . . It couldn't have happened to a finer sportsman.

Alliance 5 Wins Only 1 Of 3 Games

Mansfield Senior high's basketball combination is favored to get back into the winning column tonight when it opposes the Alliance Aviators in the Tyger lair.

The undefeated Tyger sophomores will battle the Aviator reserves at 7 p. m. with the varsity clubs listed to tangle at 8:15.

Of course, the Bengal first-liners will have to perform better than they did against Bexley to come up with victory No 4. A fair Bexley outfit last week ended Senior high's win streak at three straight.

TWO VETERANS

With only two veterans—Glenn Lipely and Jerry Thorpe—on the squad, Alliance has won one and lost two. The Aviators hold a 28-to-25 victory over East Liverpool but have lost to Canton Lincoln, 52 to 40 and Massillon, 64 to 41. Massillon has won four in a row.

The Alliance team has a distinctly football flavor. The Aviator grid squad was beaten only by Massillon and three of the pigskin performers have notched places on the court squad. They are: Thorpe, all-Ohio back; John Borton, quarterback and Candy Carroll.

A six-footer, Borton was the leading scorer against Lincoln and Massillon while Thorpe and Carroll shared honors in the Liverpool game by getting 11 apiece. Borton tops the tallying with 32 points for the season.

Thorpe and Larry Shells team at the forwards with Borton at center and Lipely and Carroll at the guards. Borton is a sophomore and Shells, a junior.

Coach Vern Hoffman's crew will have a size advantage over the visitors. The two teams did not meet last season. Alliance has averaged 36 3 points to 47 for its foes. The Tyger mark is 47.3 to 34. Bexley is the only team which has held the Tygers under 49 points.

Hoffman will go along with Jim Anderson and Ed Schmitt, forwards; Norb Shibinski, center, and Howie Tipper and Paul Ferguson, guards. Willie Fowler and A. C. Jenkins will again see plenty of action, however

★

Although held to five points by Bexley, Anderson continues to lead the scorers with 58 points. His average now stands at 14 5 per game. Big Norb Shibinski is second in line with 37 points.

The point table follows:

Harry Brecheen Is Leader Among National Pitchers

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, only lefthander in history to win three games in one world series, posted the best earned run mark among National league pitchers in the 1948 season.

The stylish lefthander of the St. Louis Cardinals allowed 58 earned runs in 233 innings for a 2.24 mark, tops among moundsmen who pitched ten or more complete games, according to final official averages released today.

Brecheen, who won three games for the Cards against the Boston Red Sox in the 1946 World Series, also led the league in shutouts with seven and in strikeouts with 149. The 34-year-old star won 20 games and lost 7, the first time he has hit the 20 mark in his big league career.

BEST PERCENTAGE

Rip Sewell, 40-year-old right-hander of the Pittsburgh Pirates, won 13 games and lost three to finish with the best won-lost percentage, .813. Sewell also sported the longest winning streak, eight games. He started his skein on July 22 and kept it intact the rest of the race.

Righthander Johnny Sain of the champion Boston Braves was the circuit's workhorse. Sain won the most games, 24; started the most, 29; completed the most, 28: hurled the most innings, 315; faced the most batters, 1,313, and yielded the most hits, 297.

Cincinnati's relief specialist, Harry Gumbert, participated in the most games, 61, and finished the most games, 46. Larry Jansen of New York allowed the most runs, 125, and Murry Dickson of St. Louis the most earned runs, 116. Dickson also served up the most homers, 39, a major league record.

JOHNNY IS WILD

Southpaw Jonnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati was the wildest pitcher, allowing the most bases on balls, 124.

Rex Barney of Brooklyn pitched the only no-hit no-run game, stopping the New York Giants, 2-0, on Sept. 9. Barney, along with Kent Peterson of Cincinnati, and Sheldon Jones of New York, hit the most batters, six. Jones committed the most wild pitches, 10.

Sid Gillman To Remain as Army Mentor

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Sidney Gillman, line coach at the United States military academy at West Point, will not accept the head football coaching job at the University of Cincinnati, the Cincinnati Post said yesterday.

"I am going to remain as Army line coach under Col. Earl Blaik," Gillman told the newspaper by telephone from West Point, N. Y.

Gillman told the Post he had met with M. Charles Mileham, U. C. athletic director, and Dr. Reed Shank, chairman of the athletic committee of the university board of directors, during the past week.

"We discussed the University of Cincinnati coaching job," Gillman told the Post. "I can't say what terms were offered."

NO REPORT DENIAL

He would neither confirm nor deny reports that the university here had offered him a yearly salary of $12,000 with tenure of at least eight years.

Asked if he might reconsider if Cincinnati officials changed their terms and offered a higher salary figure, Gillman said:

"No. I don't think so. Just say that from now on the U. C. people won't be able to find me."

Gillman's decision left the U. C. coaching job wide open for any one of several dozen candidates who might be considered in line. Mileham already has more than 30 applications from men in different parts of the country who are seeking the job left open when Ray Noltine was removed as head football coach Dec. 7.

Krall to Get Fullback Job

CLEVELAND, — (INS) — Jerry Krall, fleet Ohio State left halfback, may get the call as successor to juggernaut Joe Whisler in the buck backfield.

Wesley Fesler, Ohio State mentor in Cleveland last night to speak at a football banquet, mentioned Krall as a distinct fullback possibility next year, provided he doesn't desert college football for the pro ranks.

'I don't know that Krall will be the answer at fullback," Fesler said, 'but we have in mind to give him a try at that position We could use more speed at fullback and also we would like a ball carrier there we can use on wide plays"

The three top teams in the American league all chalked up victories last night at Senior high.

Main Cigar took a forfeit from Shorty's News, Westinghouse trimmed Ideal Billiards, 44-27, and Mansfield Tire remained undefeated by walloping Ideal Electric, 65-27.

Bob Baker of Mansfield Tire pumped 27 points through the nets to take over the scoring leadership of the league with 62 points. Teammate Trent Snavely moved in second place with 61 as he racked up 20 counters. Bob Sands, veteran Westinghouse center, scored 13 and took over third place with 55. Reese Optical was idle and former leader Bob Meeker slipped to fourth place with 47 points.

Shorty's News forfeited when only four players showed up by game-time.

Louis Master In Exhibition

LEWISTON, Me. —(AP)— Joe Louis, completely master of the situation, shuffled through four fast exhibition rounds with Willie James last night.

About 3,500 saw the world's heavyweight champ outpunch and outmaneuver the Boston Negro.

For Louis it was the last stop on a 1948 exhibition tour that has netted him well over $100,000.

Joe's going home to Detroit for Christmas. Then he expects to hit the barnstorm trail again.

"I'm still young and I'm out to make money," was the way he explained it in a pre-bout news conference.

Ball Players' Golf Tourney Is Scheduled

MIAMI, Fla —(AP)— revival of the baseball players golf tournament—a war casualty—was announced here today by Fred Corcoran, former tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' association.

Corcoran said the tournament probably would be held in Miami late in February, just before the beginning of spring training.

Eddie Stanky Has 'Good Leg'

MOBILE, Ala. — (AP) — Eddie Stanky is worrying more about getting home for Christmas than about his ankle

An operation was performed Saturday on the Boston Braves' second baseman's ankle to remove two bone chips The ankle was broken last summer when he collided with Brooklyn's Bruce Edwards

The Mobile bone surgeon who performed the operation said he would have a "good leg" as a result of the operation. Stanky said he was hoping to get home by Christmas and that his doctor told him he probably would be walking again in about 11 days.

Two Teams Share Lead In 'A' Loop

Martin Hardware and Ohio Sport Center continued to share the lead in the City A league last night as they won their games in the John Simpson gym.

Martin's led most of the way, were tied in the third quarter and then rallied in the last period to beat Urschel Insurance, 38-34. Sport Center came from behind to trim Penn Auto-Sporting Goods, 51-43, while Komito's downed Richland Beverage, 44-31, in the other game.

Sport Center trailed Penn 28-22 at the half but outscored its opponent, 17-2, in the third period to sew up the game. Ed Vanderbilt led the way with 21 points.

PERSONAL CREDIT

Ralph Majors gets personal credit for Komito's victory as he scored six baskets in the fourth quarter to help overcome a 26-23 third period disadvantage. Majors had 19 points for his evening's work.

Results last night set the stage for a crucial opening game Thursday night. The two leaders will tangle at 7 p. m. with Yuncker's Sports meeting Roger's Jewelry and Richland Beverage battling Penn Auto in other contests.

Stanford Five Edges Big 9 Hardwood Foe

NEW YORK —(AP)— The Big Nine kicked the Pacific Coast conference boys around a bit during the past football season, but it looks like a different story in basketball.

Stanford, top favorite for the Pacific Coast southern division cage title, took on Michigan, the defending Western conference champion, in San Francisco last night. The winner was Stanford, 53-51.

It was the seventh straight victory for the Indians and the first defeat in five starts for the Wolverines, who the past fall had what was voted the best football team in the land.

North Carolina State, the big wheel of the Southern conference, for instance, took a trip all the way out to Reno, Nev., and in a nip-and-tuck game, North Carolina State won, 49-48.

TAKE LICKINGS

Two southern quintets—Georgia and Georgia Tech—invaded Madison Square Garden to take a licking from a pair of New York teams. New York university had to overcome an 11-point deficit to beat Georgia, 83-72. Long Island university topped Tech, 74-60.

The classy Oklahoma Aggies trounced Baylor, 56-40, and Missouri won over Southern Methodist, figured to be one of the top teams in the section, 52-41.

William and Mary won its eighth straight of the season with a 52-37 triumph triumph over Rider college. West Virginia won No. 5 by drubbing Arizona, 61-58.

Illinois won its fifth game and avenged its only setback by overwhelming DePaul of Chicago, 89-51.

Bradley university kept its record unsullied with an 82-57 verdict over Texas Christian.

College Grid Crowds Show Big Increase

NEW YORK—(AP)—Led by the southwest's whopping 25 per cent increase, college football crowds were larger almost everywhere this fall.

An Associated Press survey of 89 schools today showed the far west as the only exception to the upward trend.

Nationally the increase in average attendance was 4.3 per cent over 1947. The 89 schools played 451 home games before gatherings totalling 12,446,754. Last year 11,719,998 saw 443 home games.

AVERAGE 27,000

An average game this fall drew 27,598 paying customers. Last year the average was 26,456.

The midwest, as usual, had the biggest crowds, both average and total. The 105 midwestern games drew 3,689,633 fans, a breakdown of 35,135 per game. The southwest with 32,329 was next as far as averages were concerned, followed by the east with 26,273, far west with 25,028 and south with 23,008

Pennsylvania, which played seven home games, had the highest total attendance—469,000. Michigan, which attracted 408,057 to five home dates, had the best average.

BIGGEST OF YEAR

The biggest crowd of the year sat in on the Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia. These 102,581 persons counted on Navy's home attendance since the Middies were hosts to the game.

The second largest crowd—100,571—was on hand for the Notre Dame-Southern California two-way shocker, but despite this full house the total U. S. C. attendance were Pennsylvania in the east, California in the far west, Ohio State in the midwest, Texas in the southwest and the University of Miami in the south.

Two Unbeaten Teams Battle

All three undefeated Senior Church league basketball teams will be in action tonight in the three-game program which opens at 7 o'clock on the YMCA court.

St. Matthew's and First Methodist share the lead with two wins apiece while Lucas Lutheran is only slightly behind with a single victory and no defeats. The Methodists play the Lutherans in the spotlight contest at 7 p. m.

St. Matthew's goes against fourth-place Park Avenue Baptist at 9. First Christian battles Ontario Community in the opener. United Brthren has a bye.

County Cage League Lead Is at Stake

One of the most important games of the Richland county basketball season will be played at Lexington tonight when Coach Don Sutter's Minutemen will entertain the undefeated Ontario Warriors.

Ontario is leading the league with four victories, while Lexington has a 3-1 record and can send the lead into a three-way tie with a victory. Bellville, tied with Lexington, is scheduled to entertain Shiloh and should have little trouble there.

TALLER TEAM

Lexington will pit its height advantage and well-balanced scoring attack against the speed and sharp passing of Ontario and the shooting mastery of Howard Sunnucks. Sunnucks is the league's leading scorer with 59 points in four games. Reserve teams of the two schools will meet in the preliminary at 7:30 p. m. but the gym is expected to be packed tight long before that.

Other games tonight will send Lucas to Butler and Plymouth to Union with the visiting teams favored in both instances.

Two games will be played Thursday, one of vital importance. Bellville will invade Ontario in the feature game and Union will travel to Lucas.

Scribe Censors Intentional Pass
By LAWTON CARVER
NEW YORK —(INS)— The game of baseball which for all these years has been held up as the great national pastime has one little irritating touch which should be ruled out promptly and permanently.
This is the intentional pass
This peculiar maneuver whereby a pitcher takes an unfair advantage of a hitter has no place in American sports but is tolerated as part of the game which supposedly symbolizes America where the offensive is revered.
The fans who pay their way into the park are deprived of the full value of their ticket
Players like Joe DiMaggio Ted Williams and Stan Musial are in accord with my thinking They do not want to take four wild pitches to get on first base, instead of being privileged to strikeout if the pitcher is that good
I know, too that the pitcher takes orders from the manager, and that only last year Connie Mack issued orders that at no time should his pitchers pitch to Williams or DiMaggio when a hit by either of them might mean scoring a run or putting their clubs in a scoring position
This should be ruled out, or so regulated that there will be a penalty against such a maneuver.
Two years ago I attended a game at the Yankee stadium between the Yankees and the Red Sox Ted Williams was intentionally passed three out of the first four times at bat
Then going into the first half of the ninth inning, the Yankees were leading 17 to 0, with the Red Sox at bat The 55 000 patient fans waiting for Williams to come up to bat again and saw the count go to three balls and no strikes and pleaded for the pitcher to pitch to the Boston slugger.
The writer turned to Dan Topping, owner of the Yankee, and said "Why don't they pitch to Williams?"
Topping replied
"Our pitcher has a chance for a shutout. Why should we pitch to him?"
With three balls and no strikes on Williams he knocked the next pitch into the right field stands to score Johnny Pesky ahead of him and make the final count 17 to 2.
That saved a drab ball game That home run lifted a horribly dull game out of the ruck of one-sidedness and enabled the fans to see Williams hit one.

All-America Rejects Pro Grid Peace Offer

National Holds Out For Just Two Clubs

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The pro football war continued today with the National Football league insisting on its own terms and the All-America conference rejecting peace at any price.

After 12 hours of what was described as harmonious and friendly discussion yesterday, it was disclosed that all the NFL wanted was the AAC's two best teams.

After (Mickey) McBride, owner of the AAC champion Cleveland Browns—talking straight from the shoulder—said the NFL offered to take his franchise and the San Francisco Forty-Niners into a 12-team league.

But the AAC representatives had their own ideas of how to solve the three-year grid war that has forced many clubs in both leagues to lose money

McBride and Ben Lindheimer, owner of the AAC Los Angeles Dons, told reporters after last night's unprecedented get-together of the two leagues, that they proposed two circuits composed of 14 teams.

The AAC group would like to add their San Francisco, Cleveland, Los Angeles and Baltimore franchises to the present 10-team NFL, dividing the clubs into seven team American and National loops.

AAC PRO PLAN

Under the AAC plan owners of the remaining teams in their league would be given an opportunity to merge or buy into going franchises. Details of how this would be done were not announced.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell and his club owners would have none of this.

They were adamant in their demand for Cleveland and San Francisco and nothing else

Baltimore and Los Angeles in the All-America league were the particular bones of contention.

George Preston Marshall, owner of the NFL Washington Redskins, was reported very cold on admitting Baltimore—only 60 miles away from his money making Redskins.

"What do we want Baltimore for? We have enough of our own headaches without adding any more," Marshall said.

To this, Lindheimer countered, "Baltimore is the sixth ranking team in all professional football as far as income is concerned."

READS STATEMENT

NFL Publicist Joseph Labrum read a formal joint statement which said:

"Representatives of the National Football league and All-America conference concluded a meeting in Philadelphia tonight (Monday).

"Efforts by both sides to formulate a mutually satisfactory agreement were not consummated.

"The committee terminated the meeting with the expectation that future meetings might provide some formula for a common understanding between the leagues."

Meanwhile, the NFL and AAC went ahead with their draft plans today, 24 hours behind schedule. The NFL draft session was in Philadelphia and the AAC's in Cleveland.

Voigts Makes Enemies With Writer Ban

By BOB MYERS

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)— The cool war between the Big Nine and Pacific Coast conferences got a little chillier today.

There was no serious declaration of hostilities but a simple announcement by Head Coach Bob Voigts of Northwestern University, newly arrived on the Rose Bowl front, did nothing to add to the warmth of the Big Nine coast conference domestic relations.

Briefly, Voigts said that from today on, all Northwestern practices will be closed to the public and to football writers—all writers, that is, except "our midwest writers, who can go and come as they please."

MAKES A HIT

This made a tremendous hit with California football writers, and brought a reply from Norrie West, director of athletic news of the University of California. West said:

"Without even talking to Pappy Waldorf, I will say that all of the California practices are open to all football writers, including the midwestern contingent who are with the Northwestern team. This goes when California comes down to Riverside next Monday and resumes practices there."

The comment on the matter did not rest at this point after Voigt's statement of policy, which follows a pattern set up in general fashion by previous visiting Rose Bowl coaches. Fritz Crisler of Michigan last year did much the same thing, and Ray Eliot of Illinois the year before was on the sectional-secretive side.

WITHOUT DAMAGE

Both Michigan and Illinois, it might be recalled, emerged from the Rose Bowl without damage—to put it lightly — and probably had enough secrets left to carry them through half the ensuing football seasons.

West, however, said his clients around the San Francisco Bay region were particularly unhappy because few of them had the opportunity of seeing Northwestern this season, including the day last September when the Wildcats hung a 19-0 shutout on a UCLA eleven in Los Angeles—a suburb of the Rose Bowl.

In any event, witnesses at the initial drill of Northwestern—open to all comers following the Wildcats' arrival yesterday — were frankly impressed with the hugeness, the speed and the snap of Voigts' entire squad.

Oregon Works For Bowl Date

DALLAS — (AP) — The Cotton Bowl picture was complete today —Oregon was in Dallas working across town from Southern Methodist for their Jan. 1 football date.

The Webfoots, 37 strong, arrived last night from Eugene, Ore., in a chartered plane to be greeted by Dallas and Cotton Bowl notables The squad was whisked to its hotel for dinner then had a brief workout under the lights at the high school field.

The Webfoots got down to serious business as they started two-a-day practice session this morning. Coach Jim Aiken called for a scrimmage.

Akron, Kent State Rate at Top of Ohio Cage List

(By International News Service)

Akron and Kent State continued today to rate one-two in Ohio college basketball, at least as far as records are concerned.

Akron's surprising Zippers marched relentlessly to their fifth straight of the year last night, 63-34 pasting handed to little Albion. Zippers Hank Vaughn and Bob Walker hit the hoops for 26 points between them to pace the Akroners.

Kent State, previously the winner in three of four clashes, easily disposed of Adrian, 63-34. Only a defeat at the hands of Westminster mars the Kent record.

Ohio teams split even in two other games against out-of-state foes last night Xavier smashed Western Ontario, 72-34, but Loyola of Los Angeles stopped Toledo 42-21.

Bowling Green, probably Ohio's strongest team, takes on South Carolina tonight in the feature of a holiday-depleted card, the Falcons, although up against tough opposition of late, are expected to handle the southerners without too much trouble.

Linster and Hilborn Top Monday's Alley Firing

Pete Linster and Colony Manager Art Hilborn shared the honored spot in Mansfield bowling today, following a pair of 600 series in the Club league.

Rolling with American Legion, Pete scored the Colony alleys with games of 193, 223 and 203 for a 619. Art was consistent with 181-211-213—605, while rolling with the Optimists team.

Several bowlers in the loop had fine single games sandwiched between two ordinary ones to bring their series marks down. H. Underwood took the dubious prize in this department with a 204 single game between marks of 152 and 125 for a 481 series. R. Harper had a 232 and 571 while Lloyd Pugh turned in 224 and 563. A 209 single game brought Al Benson up to 566 while Harold Keller was all the way down to 525 despite a 222 middle game.

In contrast to the others, Reggie Bookman had two fine games (201 and 212), but his final effort was 147, giving a 560 total.

League-leading Schoolmasters and runner-up Optimists both won two of three games.

★

Bob Hilborn was the big gun in the Commercial C league with 176-229-180—585. Al Baki was runnerup with 579 while W. Windsor had 577, G. Cusic, 567, and Joe Siwek, 554.

★

In the Richland B Handicap league, the News-Journal had a little civil war all to itself as News-Journal No. 1, far down in the standings, knocked N-J No. 2 out of the league lead with three straight defeats.

Jack Menke of the No. 1 team posted a 532 series to show the way while Bob Boyd led the No. 2 club with 512. Don Miller of No 2 led off with 206, the only 200 game in the league, and then slipped to 458. His second game was a weak 111.

J. Rhoads of Charm Fashion pounded out the best series in the loop, a 553.

★

The red-hot race in the Women's Variety league takes a backseat to none. National Cash register and Mitsch's Corner Store both swept three straight contests last night to remain tied for first place.

Mitsch's had the most consistent set as all five bowlers were within the 400 level. Evelyn Marshman of Larimore Realty took individual honors with 517, while Arlene Peters of Wilson Auto posted 510 and Florence Handwork a 507.

★

Marguerite Thrush paced Mansfield Tire Women with 429 while Elizabeth Hartman had 427.

Scanty Attire Used By North

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Both North and South teams planned heavy workouts today in preparation for Mahi Shrine's all-star football battle in the Orange Bowl Christmas night.

North Coach Herman Hickman scheduled a morning session in shirts and shorts and an afternoon scrimmage.

Yesterday his squad lost a promising halfback when Dick Cramer of Rutgers broke his right collar bone during scrimmage. Dick was reported "resting comfortably" at Alton road hospital.
